To whom it may concern,

This is to confirm that the "Blackmore Wagyu" branded product produced by Rockdale Beef Pty Ltd at Regulator Road, Yanco, NSW follows the standard product identification and integrity measures listed below.

All Wagyu cattle received by Rockdale beef arrive under the Australian National Vendor Declaration system that ensures integrity during dispatch, transport and delivery. Animals are kept separate and are not mixed with any other cattle at arrival and holding prior to slaughtering.

The cattle are slaughtered in a separate Lot and issued with a unique identification number. The carcasses are kept in a separate chiller and are not mixed with other carcasses. The manufacturing process was completed in a our specialty traceability boning room and is not mixed with any other product during boning, slicing or packaging. All carton beef is issued with a unique serial number and the product code number is not shared with any other type of cartoned beef. Rockdale Beef has a slaughtering and packaging establishment of "517" which can be identified on all cartons.

The clear unique identification and product separation measures during slaughtering, boning, packaging and dispatch maintain the product integrity at all times.
